Listing of Claims:

Claim 1 (currently amended). A floor cleaning implement comprising a handle, a mop head, and a universal joint connecting said handle to said mop head, wherein said mop head comprises at least one three-dimensional surface having a raised three-dimensional pattern of longitudinally and transversely spaced-apart upstanding elements, and readily receives a planar cleaning sheet that contours to said raised three-dimensional pattern of the said three-dimensional surface of said mop head.

Claim 2 (original). A floor cleaning implement as in claim 1, wherein said mop head receives said planar cleaning sheet by way of pinch points, adhesives, or fasteners.

Claim 3 (currently amended). A floor cleaning implement as in claim 1, wherein said planar cleaning sheet is one or more layers selected from the group consisting of the group of wovens, nonwovens, films, and the combinations thereof.

Claim 4 (original). A floor cleaning implement as in claim 1, wherein said planar cleaning sheet is wet or dry.

Claim 5 (original). A floor cleaning implement as in claim 1, wherein said planar cleaning sheet comprises an aqueous or non-aqueous cleaning composition.

mop head comprises a first surface comprising a first three-dimensional surface and a second surface comprising a second three-dimensional surface, wherein said first and second surfaces readily receives a planar cleaning sheet that contours to the said three-dimensional surface of said mop head.

Claim 7 (withdrawn). A floor cleaning implement that acts as an adapter for a mop head comprising a support surface, wherein said adapter comprises a three-dimensional surface and is fastened to said support surface so as to convert said mop head into a mop head with a three-dimensional surface; said three-dimensional surface readily receives a planar cleaning sheet that contours to the said three-dimensional surface of said mop head.

Claim 8 (withdrawn). A floor cleaning implement as in claim 7, wherein said adapter fastens to said support surface by way of clips, clamps, or hooks.
